Principal and CEO's Foreword to Equalities Outcomes & Action Plan

I am delighted to welcome you to SRUC's new Equality Outcomes and Action Plan which sets out our continuing commitment to equality, diversity and human rights work between 2017 and 2021.

We are committed to creating an inclusive culture that advances equality of opportunity, advancement and outcome for all students, staff and stakeholders. This is a key factor in our long-term performance and continued success.

The development and implementation of the first set of equality outcomes provided an insight into what has worked as well and what has not worked well.

SRUC launched its new strategic vision in April 2017. Our commitment to equality, diversity and human rights will be firmly embedded as we further develop the strategy and create a sustainable business plan to underpin our vision.

Our overall approach to equality, diversity and human rights will be contemporary. Our policies and practices will support SRUC in continuing to contribute to the elimination of discrimination, harassment and victimisation and the advancement of equality of opportunity. The activities will be underpinned by solid evidence through monitoring, evaluation and revision of our action plans, based on regular analysis of employee and student data.

The new equality outcomes detailed in this report are derived from wide ranging information including feedback from employees, students, stakeholders, key partners and external agencies. They exceed statutory requirements as we aim for best practice in our service and employment provisions.

I would like to thank all the individuals, organisations and partner agencies whose input and guidance on key issues contributed to the development of our equality outcomes.

I look forward to working with you to ensure that our equality, diversity and human rights approach secures SRUC's contribution to the Scottish National Outcome: "We have tackled the significant inequalities in Scottish society".

Professor Wayne Powell
Principal and Chief Executive

BACKGROUND

SRUC, the legal title for the institution, was formed on 1 October 2012 from the merger of four 'legacy colleges' - Barony, Elmwood, Oatridge and the Scottish Agricultural College (SAC). The merger created an integrated institution delivering tertiary education, research and consultancy services to a wide range of stakeholders in agriculture, land and the rural sector.

We are a designated higher education institution and are recognised by the Scottish Funding Council as a Small Specialist Institution. SRUC also receives funding from the Scottish Government Rural and Environmental Science and Analytical Services Division for research and consulting activity. We have close links with industry across all of our education, research and consulting activities.

With about 5067 students and 1329 employees SRUC operates its main education activities from six campuses, including four education farms: Aberdeen, Ayr, Barony (nine miles from Dumfries), Edinburgh, Elmwood (in Cupar, Fife) and Oatridge (in Ecclesmachan, West Lothian).

Research activity is focused primarily at the Edinburgh campus (with additional facilities at the Bush Estate, including the Roslin Institute Building shared with the University of Edinburgh), with other activity at a number of locations including the Aberdeen and Ayr (Auchincruive) campuses, and the four research farms SRUC operates.

Consultancy activity is delivered through a network of 26 consultancy offices spread across Scotland and northern England and eight veterinary disease surveillance centres in Scotland.

SRUC does not have degree awarding powers. Most of our taught degree programmes are validated by the University of Glasgow under an accreditation agreement and, since 2010; we have had a similar accreditation agreement with the University of Edinburgh. SRUC has a number of postgraduate research students with degrees being awarded by eight different universities, including Glasgow and Edinburgh. The Scottish Qualifications Authority (SQA) accredits the majority of Higher National, National Certificate and Scottish Vocational Qualification awards.

The details of our student and employee profile against the protected characteristics can be found in the accompanying document:
SRUC Equalities Data 2017

INTRODUCTION

The Public Sector Equality Duty as set out in the Equality Act 2010 requires SRUC (Scotland's Rural College), in the exercise of our functions, to have due regard to the need to:

1. eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment, victimisation and any other conduct prohibited by the Act;
2. advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it; and
3. foster good relations between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.

It covers the following protected characteristics: age, disability, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief (this includes lack of belief), sex and sexual orientation. It also applies to marriage and civil partnership, but only in respect of the requirement to have due regard to the need to eliminate discrimination.

The Public Sector Specific Duties require us to:

Publish equality outcomes and report progress in meeting them

In this document we have set out our equality outcomes. Each outcome sets out a result we aim to achieve in order to further one or more of the general duties. Each of our outcomes applies to all protected characteristics. In preparing our outcomes we have ensured that they apply to our learners, our employees and our obligations to our community.

Report progress on mainstreaming the general equality duty

We will publish a combined mainstreaming report and equality outcomes report on our website by 30th April 2017 (and every 2 years thereafter), in which we will report on our progress in mainstreaming equality; that is, in making sure that meeting the general duty is integral to all that we do. The report will include an annual breakdown of the employee and learner information we have gathered, together with details of the progress we have made in using the information to assist us in meeting the general equality duty.

Gather, use and publish employee information

Every year, we will gather information on the number and characteristics of employees and the recruitment, development and retention of our employees.

Publish an equal pay statement

We will publish pay gap information and an equal pay statement every 2 years within our mainstreaming report. (Note: Pay gap information is defined as the percentage difference between men's average hourly pay and women's average hourly pay (excluding overtime)).

Publish gender pay gap information and an equal pay statement

The equal pay statement will contain our policy on equal pay and occupational segregation between women and men and will be published within our mainstreaming report. We will produce an equal pay statement again in 2017 and every four years after that which will also include our policy on equal pay and occupational segregation between disabled people and nondisabled people, people in a minority racial group and people who are not.

Impact assess new or revised policies and practices as well as making arrangements to review existing policies and practices

We will assess the impact of applying all new or revised policy or practice against the needs of the general equality duty. We will consider relevant evidence and take account of the results of any assessment when conducting the impact assessment. We will publish the impact assessment along with the policy on our website.

Consider adding equality award criteria and contract conditions in public procurement exercises

SRUC recognises its duties under the Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) (Scotland) Regulations 2012. When entering a procurement agreement which is “the most economically advantageous” SRUC will also have due regard to whether the award criteria should include considerations which will help it meet its general equality duty. This will depend on the relevance to equality of what is being procured and the proportionality of taking action. Also, where SRUC puts performance conditions into an agreement, it will have due regard to whether the conditions should include considerations which will help it meet its general equality duty.

All publications must be accessible

SRUC will endeavour to make all publications accessible and so far as practical an existing means of public performance reporting will be used.

Equality Outcomes are part of the Public Sector Specific Duties and have been defined as a result of what SRUC aims to achieve in order to further one or more of the 3 parts of the Public Sector Equality Duties in relation to every protected characteristic. If the set of equality outcomes does not further the 3 parts of the Public Sector Equality Duties in relation to every characteristic SRUC must publish reasons for this.

They are specific, realistic, evidence based and measurable and have been created taking reasonable steps to involve people with protected characteristics and those who SRUC think represent their interests.

The first set of Equality Outcomes was published by 30 April 2013 and each subsequent set should be published at intervals of no more than 4 years. SRUC must publish a report every 2 years on the action taken and the progress it has made to achieve its outcomes.

Our mission, vision, global aims and values are:

MISSION

“Committed to excellence and innovation in the advancement, communication and translation of knowledge throughout the rural sector”.

VISION

“Leading innovation and sustainable development in agriculture, land and the rural sector”

The vision can be further articulated in that “SRUC is recognised for its global and local impact on food and environmental security through world-class research, education, training and consulting”.

We will achieve this vision through the following global aim:

- To provide world-leading research, innovation, education, training and consulting, in support of global food and environmental security, sustainable rural development, and animal and human wellbeing.

"We will RISE to our values; RESPECT everyone's contributions, INNOVATE for success and SUPPORT each other to EXCEL in everything we do".

Our Principal and Chief Executive joined SRUC last summer and the following seven key principles provide a framework for the development of our future strategy:

FRAMEWORK FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF FUTURE STRATEGY

1. Reassert SRUC's status as the National Institution for research, teaching and advice which connects the science base and industry and drives growth and innovation in the rural economy, building on SRUC's facilities, expertise and geographic spread to support the needs of a dynamic, innovative and competitive rural sector in Scotland and beyond
2. Creating a model for collaborative team working within SRUC and across Scotland that includes establishing regional alliances to address local skills needs, a gateway for rapid translation and application of the world-leading research taking place at Scotland's scientific institutes and universities to deliver economic and social impact.
3. Ensure that SRUC returns an outstanding UK leading Research Excellence Framework (REF) return in 2022 and joins the top six ranked schools of agriculture in the world.
4. Build on our comparative advantage as a small specialised Institution to develop excellent student centred teaching and learning, informed by world class research and industry need across the spectrum of Tertiary education
5. Advance the use of our knowledge of data intensive agriculture to deliver profitable sustainable farming and support prosperous rural communities.
6. Drive and maximise commercial opportunities, promoting an entrepreneurial culture throughout SRUC which is outward facing, strongly connected to industry and creates economic growth.
7. Bring an international focus to all we do.

Governance Approach and Responsibilities

SRUC Board

The composition of SRUC Board membership consists of the following:

March 2017	14 members (4 women)	12 non-Executive* (3 women)	2 Executive (1 woman)

* includes 1 staff member, plus 1 student representative members

SRUC Board is responsible for the publication of statements on Equality, Human Rights and Inclusion (EHRI) and reporting requirements in accordance with the Equality Act 2010 Public Sector Equality Duties. The Board delegates authority to the Executive Management Team (EMT) to discharge SRUC's obligations under the Public Sector Equality Duties and to ensure SRUC remains compliant with UK legislation and relevant codes of practice.

EMT is supported by Divisional Management Teams (DMT) who in turn concentrate on compliance and best practice activities in each of SRUC's 4 operating divisions; Consulting, Education, Finance & Professional Services and Research.

Internal committee structures further support our aim to fully embed EHRI concerns throughout the institution, key examples of which are the:

EHRI Committee, Equality & Diversity sub-group (Education), Equality & Diversity sub-group (Human Resources) and the Athena Swan Self Assessment Team

SRUC has strong leadership support for equality, diversity and human rights and this is explained below. Reports on equality, diversity, human rights and inclusion activities are included in key agenda items for the monthly Divisional Management team (DMT) meetings and the quarterly Executive Management Team (EMT) meetings. These reports are also summarised for submission to Board meetings.

Equality, Human Rights and Inclusion Committee (EHRI)

The key remit of the Equality, Human Rights and Inclusion Committee is to foster an inclusive working and learning environment in which all employees and learners can fulfil their full potential. The aim of the Committee is to:

- Determine strategic direction and priorities;

- Monitor and evaluate action plan progress made in each division;
- Oversee SRUC's compliance with equality, diversity and human rights legislation;
- Horizon scanning a broad range of relevant information for emerging issues and trends to develop SRUC's future capability, and
- Provide quarterly Equality and Diversity progress reports to the EMT and Board.

These aims enable SRUC to meet legal duties and responsibilities in relation to equality, diversity and human rights help direct our efforts to achieve best practice.

Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Champions

There are two Equality Champions on the SRUC Board plus three Employee Champions currently representing;

- disability
- gender
- age

Champions for other protected characteristics will be identified and appointed in the near future as part of our action plan delivery.

Appointing Champions is a unique way of embedding mainstreaming and inclusion activity in all the important work already achieved in SRUC. Champions provide leadership and become the conduit for disseminating information, driving and articulating behavioural and cultural change across SRUC. Champions also fulfil an advocacy role by ensuring that equality, diversity and human rights are key elements in all business planning activities in SRUC and link these elements to the corporate objectives of SRUC.

Champions play a key role in promoting a positive working environment in which employees and learners are treated fairly and with respect, also in encouraging all to play a role in creating and maintaining an environment in which harassment, bullying, victimisation and discrimination are understood to be unacceptable forms of behaviour.

Champions raise awareness by:

- Communicating the consequences of bullying, harassment, victimisation and discrimination
- Helping to support employees and learners by facilitating change
- Modelling behaviour that is a fundamental part of building good business
- Helping SRUC work towards being a good employer and college
- Helping employees and learners feel that it is a good place to work and learn

Champions act as role models by:

- Ensuring that the division promotes, celebrates and raises awareness of equality, diversity, human rights and inclusivity issues.
- Supporting and encouraging engagement in equality initiatives.
- Sharing and promoting best practice.
- Contributing and providing challenge to the Equality, Human Rights and Inclusion Committee in the equality protected characteristic being championed.
- Actively promoting the engagement of employees and, where appropriate, learners in the work and activities of the Equality, Human Rights and Inclusion Committee.
- Providing leadership in SRUC, at an institutional level, in the area championed.
- Keeping up to date on developments in the area championed.
- Actively contributing to the implementation of the SRUC Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Action Plan.

Equality and Diversity Business Partner

The Equality & Diversity Business Partner develops, supports and drives SRUC's strategy and operations in relation to Equality & Diversity to ensure that SRUC meets its legislative responsibilities to people with different protected characteristics. The Equality & Diversity Business Partner also promotes good relations and practices towards different minority groups within SRUC.

Involving Others

We regularly carry out employee, student, unions and stakeholders equality consultation and involvement and use this to inform our priorities, actions and decision-making processes.

There is regular equality, diversity and human rights input into SRUC Core Brief communications as well as pan-SRUC Seminars and Webinars.

Employee Responsibilities

SRUC is committed to valuing diversity, advancing equality of opportunity and respecting human rights in all aspects of our activities. All employees and learners in everything they do, must understand, recognise and accept their individual duties and responsibility in this regard. Discriminating, harassing or victimising others, whether intentionally or not, will not be accepted nor tolerated and corrective action will be taken if the need arises.

Managers Responsibilities

Line managers are responsible for leading by example and ensuring that equality, diversity and human rights provisions, policies, practice, and procedures are upheld. Senior SRUC management has a responsibility to ensure that SRUC has an enabling and resourced environment. This includes ensuring fairness and impartiality in selecting, managing and developing employees as well as in our service provision and ensuring the impact assessment, monitoring, evaluation and annual reporting of the work.

Learners Responsibilities

Learners at all levels must understand, recognise and accept individual responsibility for equality and diversity within the SRUC. This includes during classes, field trips, practical and placements, social activities and when resident or a guest in SRUC accommodation. This means not discriminating, harassing or victimising against others, whether intentional or not, and taking action if the need arises. It is about recognising, respecting and valuing everyone's differences.

Learners input into SRUC equality, diversity and human rights work is essential and throughout the year there are opportunities to influence current and future policies, procedures and practices.

Contractual and Service Providers Responsibilities

All contractors and service providers on behalf of the College are responsible for complying with the policies aimed at achieving our equality outcomes and any equality conditions in contracts or agreements. The College aims to ensure that the appropriate conditions are inserted in contracts or agreements with any external providers of services.
